Math: We are starting a new chapter in the middle of the week! The parent letter will go home on Wednesday. We will take our Ch.1 test, then begin our lessons on shapes. We will identify shapes based on their attributes while also learning about closed and open shapes, rotational and reflective symmetry, etc.

Reading:

Dragon and Giants(Frog and Toad)
decodable readers, Non-fiction animal books

Writing: Journal, Constitution Day writing Prompt

UFLI Focus: 40a and 41a
short /e/ and short vowel review

Irregular words: you, what, have

Science:

We need to wrap up our first unit and take our assessment this week. Assessments are less formal than regular tests. Next, we'll be moving on to the next big thing! Students will distinguish between living and non-living, list 4 basic needs of animals, and identify which external parts help an animal meet its needs.
